SCAM PREVENTION

Fake vs. Real Cash

Counterfeit bills can be hard to spot—especially during busy events like the fair. Here's how to protect yourself:

- ☑ Feel the Paper – Real bills are printed on special paper with a unique texture. If it feels off, trust your gut.
- ☑ Look for Security Features – Hold the bill up to the light. You should see a watermark and security thread (on $5 and higher).
- ☑ Check the Ink – Real cash uses color-shifting ink on the bottom-right number ($10 and up). Tilt the bill—if the color doesn't change, it's likely fake.
- ☑ Use a Counterfeit Detector Pen – A quick mark can help you confirm if the bill is legitimate.

If you suspect fake money, don't accept it and report it to local authorities.

DID YOU KNOW?

If you hold up your bill to the light, you will see a second image of the bill portrait. For example, with a $100 bill, you can see Benjamin Franklin from both sides of the bill in the blank space located on the right side of the portrait.
